The chart shows your developing baby’s vulnerability to alcohol-related defects during specific periods of development. The dark blue segments represent the most sensitive periods.